ELECTION WAS ONE-SIDED

South Thomaston Out In Force Yesterday To Vote On School Issue

Voters of South Thomaston gave an emphatic "No" to the proposed School District in a special election held Monday. Ballot clerks announced the vote as 250 votes against the School District, 45 in favor, and two defective ballots.

The turnout of voters was unquestionably the largest in several years; some ventured to say in a half century though no figures were available to support it. At any rate, 297 out of a possible 368 cast their ballots in the election.

Leaders of the opposition to the School District made it clear after the returns were announced that they did not necessarily oppose a new school. They did, however, they said, oppose the School District method of obtaining the building.

The School District issue has created considerable activity in the community for some time with the issue being discussed since the formation of a group nearly two years ago which proposed a central school.

The proponents of the School District held a public meeting Friday night to which all citizens of the community were invited. The gathering, held in the Grange hall, was attended by approximately 40 persons.

The meeting was presided over by George Roberts who kept personalities out of discussions between persons in the hall and halted exchanges of words when they showed a trace of becoming heated.

EVERY CLASS WAS REPRESENTED

Alumni Reception Was Highly Successful— Louise Dolliver Gregory the New President

The class of '49 was welcomed into the Rockland High School Alumni Association Friday night by Association President Paul Merriam and the response was made by Class President Richard Pease as another chapter was added to the long history of the local graduate group. An excellent attendance vigorously registered its approval of the exercises.

In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Merriam, 1930, Nathan Farwell, 1909, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cowan, 1939, and Principal and Mrs. Robert Clunie, Jr. The entertainment under direction of Mrs. Mary Bird Hudson and Mrs. Pauline McLoon Bosse was very well received and brought the very welcome intonation of levity and laughter so needed to season the alumni sessions which in the nature of things carry an undertone of nostalgia.

The community singing went along with more verve under direction of Mrs. Winola Richan Cooper and Paul Halligan's piano solo was very well done, and both received rousing applause a bit later in the program when played back to the audience as recorded by Wendell Emery and his wire recorder. Everett Blethen's chalk talk sparkled with humor and natural talent. Not to be forgotten were the informal vocal numbers presented by Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Lillian Joyce, Raymond K. Greene and Osmond A. Palmer, Principal Robert E. Clunie Jr., retiring head of Rockland High School voiced his appreciation of the fine spirit and warm cooperation which has been given him during his stay in this city.

The choice of the nominating committee was applauded to the echo when they named Louise Dolliver Gregory '30 as president for '49-'50. Other officers elected will be Domenic Cucinello, 1937, vice president; Miss Marian Ginn, 1935, secretary; C. Maxwell Ames, 1937, treasurer; Dr. Wesley N. Wasgatt, 1928, Mrs. Nancy Snow Lamb, 1928, Almon B. Cooper, 1939, Mrs. Ruth Koster Hoch, 1927, Herman M. Hart, 1922 and Mrs. Ruth Seabury Dalton, 1941, members of the Executive Committee.

The role of classes from 1892 to 1949 had the unusual feature of finding representatives present from every year.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Inez Harden, assisted by Mrs. Edith Billings, Mrs. Eileen Harden, Mrs. Virginia Knight and Mrs. Charlotte Newhall.

BURGESS WILL BE NAMED

Rockland Representative Selected As An Assistant Attorney General

Stuart C. Burgess

Rumors which have been current since the State election that Stuart C. Burgess would be rewarded with an office were confirmed yesterday with the announcement made by Attorney General Ralph W. Farris that he would be appointed assistant attorney general assigned to the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Mr. Burgess who has served Rockland as city solicitor and Knox County as district attorney, was very active in the Primaries and State elections, being numbered among Frederick G. Payne's strongest supporters.

His new office will require his attendance in Augusta only a portion of each week.

He announces that he will not be a candidate for re-nomination as Representative to Legislature where he was one of the most popular members of the last session, serving on the judiciary committee, among others.

He is being warmly congratulated.

MAKING SPEEDY PROGRESS

Main Street Finds the Tarring Crews Busy Today—Much Improvement Noted

The city repaving project had progressed at press time this morning to Limerock street on Main, Park street being covered with the exception of the final coating.

Included in the project is the area from Park street to Gen. Berry square on Main street which was not at first contemplated.

Much favorable comment has been made on the improved condition of Park street as the result of the laying of the hot top surfacing.

A strip is being laid this morning along the center of Main street, covering the route of the trolley tracks which was relaid with paving several years ago.

Constant police supervision is keeping Main street traffic moving with a minimum of delay.

Tonight, City Manager Farnsworth and the City Council will discuss the possibility of covering Union street from Park to Talbot avenue with the same material. Farnsworth yesterday said that he believed that the project could be carried out without exceeding the

Won Golf Honors

Rockland golfers played prominent parts in the annual Frank Gilman Day tournament at the Augusta Country Club Sunday.

One of the hits of the day was James Flanagan and son James, Jr., appearing in the Father and Son tournament. William Glendenning, Arthur Flanagan, Leo Oulette and Vance Norton participated in the tournament play. Mr. Flanagan taking second honors with a 71.

This is the second year of the Frank Gilman tournament which is a benefit affair for Mr. Gilman who was for 23 years pro at the Augusta Club and has been hospitalized for the past two years as the result of a fall.

Wanted A Pitcher

The Rockets have lost Bill Holden, their ace southpaw, and they would like to hear from any Knox County High School boys who would like to try out for pitching. Fred LaCrosse and Dick French will need help on the mound to keep the team in the pennant race, as 34 league games are scheduled for this year, and a good young southpaw particularly is what Thompson, Cucinello and Chumny Gray are searching for. Anyone interested in trying out will be welcomed, and in Chumny Gray they have a pitching coach without peer, who will be glad to work with any lad of promise. The Rockets are being patched by Major League Scouts this season, and the door to baseball fame and fortune may be open.

Denmark's building industry got back nearly to 1939, a record year, in 1948.

NO BIG CIRCUSES

Before the Carleton Bridge was built, between Bath and Woolwich, residents of this community were told that the reason no large circuses came to Rockland was the difficulty of ferrying. But the old ferry is gone and a modern railroad system brings trains to this city without a moment's delay. And still no Barnum, Bailey, Ringling show. In fact, when that wonderful combination does come to Maine, if at all, it seldom shows elsewhere than Portland—maybe Bangor. And the ironical part of it is that the only time Barnum's Circus did come to Rockland it was in a deluge.

PARTING WITH A PRINCIPAL

A note of sadness creeps into all commencement exercises for the reason that it means farewell to school days. But the Rockland High School commencement meant more than that, for it marked the parting of a beloved teacher. With the end of the school year Robert Clunie, Jr., completed his service as principal, after giving two fine administrations. Mr. Clunie, as an educator, has met the test of years; as an athletic coach and sportsman he has lived up to its best traditions; and as a gentleman he won everybody's esteem.

GOOD APPLE CROP?

Current comment this season has concerned the profusion of apple blossoms in all orchards, and the belief that it meant an abundant crop is born out by the report that New England apple prospects on June 1 were for an above average crop as indicated by reports from apple growers throughout the area. Prospects in Northern New England were somewhat higher compared with average than in Southern New England where prospects appeared to be only a little above average.

June 1, however, is too early to determine the set of apples and prospects may change somewhat after the "June" drop. Last year's apple production in New England was 9 percent less than the ten-year average production. Although there were a number of rather narrow escapes, damage to apples from frosts and freezes was not extensive this Spring. Some orchards in frost locations did suffer considerable damage. Above normal temperatures and more sunshine than usual during the blooming period was very favorable for bee activity and good pollination.

LAWMAKERS BEWITCHED

In the give and take which marks the present stage of labor legislation certain of the Taft-Hartley provisions have been brought back with the assent of both parties, including that which calls for the filing by unions of financial reports. An attempt at surface impartiality has led the Senate, however, to provide that both employer and employer shall file such reports with the Secretary of Labor before availing themselves of the services of the National Labor Relations Board. This is a confusion masked as a synthesis, and its result would be a departure from the ostensible purpose of the law.

The Taft-Hartley requirement with regard to financial reports was for the protection of union members against possible abuses by their leadership. It was one of several provisions incorporated with this end in view. Certain of these probably went too far; but the charges now being made against the late George L. Berry, of the Pressmen's Union, are one indication that the insistence on accounting was well conceived. Despite propaganda to the contrary, moreover, such accounting has not been objectionable to labor, and the legal provision only carries out for a minority what the vast majority of labor unions already undertake. Thus the constitutions of 170 representative unions, out of 172 recently examined by the Harvard Business School, require the officers to supply the membership with financial reports audited by independent accountants.

The extension of the Taft-Hartley provision to cover employers introduces, however, a different principle. The filing of financial reports of companies with the Secretary of Labor is obviously not for the protection of stockholders or any one else. The Securities Exchange Commission and other government agencies have already insisted on necessary safeguards. If the employers' reports filed with the Secretary of Labor were kept entirely confidential they would be meaningless, being a duplication of basic information already at the disposal of the government. If the facts they contain were allowed to enter the processes of bargaining or mediation, they would alter fundamentally the methods of settling disputes.

To continue the protection of union members against a small minority of financially irresponsible leaders seems desirable; just as it has long been recognized as desirable to protect by appropriate means the stockholders in industry. The twofold step contemplated at present by the Senate has not, however, been thought through. The lawmakers have been bewitched by words and have forgotten the different substances that underlie them.—Herald Tribune.

THE CHIEFS BOW GRACEFULLY

Swanson Tells How Vinalhaven Team Took Chinese Uppercut On the Chin

(By Fred Swanson)
In a hard fought pitchers' duel, the Chiefs bowed to the China Clippers 2 to 0.

Hewitt, the visitor's southpaw held the Islanders to 5 singles, only one runner reaching third, and none reaching second, until the eighth. It was a heartbreaker for Joe Plante to lose, his performance on the mound was excellent, yielding 8 hits, and no runs until the sixth, when Tracy's single and Farrington's walk, set up the run. C. Hewitt singled to left, Swanson's inability to find the handle on the ball, allowed Tracy to register. In the seventh, singles by Plasted and E. Hewitt, and a fielder's choice, scored the second and final marker.

In the ninth, Haskell opened the Chiefs frame with a single, Joslyn then committed highway robbery on Swanson's line drive to center, grabbing the ball off his shoe tops on the dead run, for one of the best catches that Vinalhaven fans have seen for many years, it saved the game from at least being a tie because Guilford smashed a hit off Taber, Lady Luck would not smile on the Chiefs, as C. Bickford also lined out.

There were a number of fine fielding plays. Hamilton, the visitor's right fielder turned in a beautiful running catch off Guilford in the 5th, "Ducky" Haskell handled 11 chances at short flawlessly, taking part in the two twin killings pulled off by the Chiefs.

Teel who replaced the still injured White behind the plate, turned in a good defensive performance, as did Guilford, the Islander's always dependable second sacker.

A large crowd of fans turned out again for this well-played game. Next Sunday the Chiefs entertain the Augusta Calumets, an even stronger team than the Clippers.

Stormy Weather Killed Night Games — Warren Wins Its First Victory

Thursday—Waldoboro at Rockland, 6:00 p. m.; Camden at Rockport; Thomaston at St. George; Spruce Head at Warren.

Rockland Rockets will entertain the fast moving Waldoboro Club at Community Park Thursday. This game will be a hot and heavy clash between these two strong teams to show their power and who is entitled to remain at the top of the league. Both teams are maintaining records of four wins and no losses, pending the outcome of the Rockets-Thomaston game.

Waldoboro 21, Camden 0
"Operation slaughter" was the word in Waldoboro Wednesday night when the pennant-contending Waldoboreans slammed Camden batters for 26 hits, which netted 21 runs, and which included circuit clouts by Burnheimer, Sprague and R. Hodgkins.

While the home batters were indulging in this field day, the luckless Camden boys failed to log a solitary safety off the Waldoboro moundmen.

The Weather

This is the first day of Summer, but all last week there was a lingering suspicion that the heated season had beaten the gun and arrived here ahead of schedule. Bidding farewell to an exceedingly eccentric Spring I can only say that it came in like an eye-dropper, and went out like a street sprinkler.

The trawler Mocking Bird, of Virginia is fishing out of the port of Rockland for the Summer, one of several Southern boats landing their catches here.

Charles Libby, on vacation from the University of Maine, is employed at Swift and Company for the Summer.

The scalloper Muskegon, Capt. Arthur Hain, has completed his first trip of the season with a catch of 1,000 gallons.

Ends Moth Threat

Noisy But Effective Outfit Is Spraying City's Shade Trees

The Roberts Tree & Landscape Company of Camden are spraying the trees of the city for gypsy and brown tail moth. The State and City bear the cost of the project equally.

A dusting rig much the same as used by blueberry growers is used on the project with a high power blower unit sending the dust to the tops of the trees. An operator controls the unit, directing the shower of dust where needed. The high pitched whine of the unit in action advertises its presence well in advance of its actual appearance on a street.

A Dance Festival

Madelyn Oliver's Pupils Will Be Seen In Unique Program Wednesday Night

Wednesday night at 8, the curtain at the Community Building will open on Part I of a dance festival being presented by the pupils of Madelyn Oliver's School of Dancing.

The theme of the Festival will be "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which will be carried out in every detail including the cotton blossoms and watermelons which will be executed by the ever-popular babies. Part I will feature specialty dances by talented older students of the dancing school. Miss Oliver will also appear in this part in a tap specialty number.

Incidentally, this year's recital will not be as long as others of previous years have been. Starting promptly at 8, the show will be comparatively short and exceptionally entertaining.

Blueberry Work

District Agent Wentworth Touring Berry Producing Areas Of State

This past week, R. C. Wentworth, District Agent of blueberries, was in Cumberland and Oxford Counties. County Agent, Sherm Rowe, arranged two field meetings in Gray and calls were made on growers in Gray and Brunswick.

There was some frost damage on low land in Gray, but in general the crop looks very well.

Arthur Thompson of Gray had arranged an overhead sprinkler system on his blueberries by the use of several hundred feet of fire hose and fire nozzle. It was doing a good job.

Two meetings were held in Brownfield and South Paris. Here again frost damage was found on the low plain lands of Brownfield.

New burn in both areas looks good. Many men are planning to clear land this coming year. Dusting for fruit fly control was discussed with the men.

County Agent H. A. Leonard arranged for the two meetings at which general management practices were discussed.

This week, Agent R. C. Wentworth, will be in Washington and Hancock Counties.

A dusting demonstration of new burn will be held in East Brook. Calls will be made on growers in both counties.

FRED WEBEL'S NEW LAYING HOUSE

Has Latest Features For Bird Care and Ease Of Tending Flock In Three Story Plant

Fred Webel of Warren has a new laying house in operation which he built last Fall. The three-story structure is built after the plans of the Extension Service's 36x35 foot approved house but is extended to 72 feet in length.

Work on the structure was started last August by Elmer Overlock of Warren and completed and put into use in November.

The extra length allows for a double pen and the construction of a 16-foot egg room on one end. Eventual expansion will place the egg room in the center of the house.

Looking to keeping back breaking labor at a minimum, Webel built the house on a side hill across from his home. The plan results in a ramp from the roadway to the landing platform on the third floor. Feed is handled on the third floor and is fed down to the second and first floors with a minimum of labor.

The entire plant is so well arranged that Fred is able to care for 500 birds with only occasional help being employed.

Still with an eye to ease of operation, all doors in the building are divided center swinging doors which allow easy passage even with loaded arms.

The first floor, which is well down over the embankment but on the ground level in the back, has an egg room in one end which is fully insulated. The cement walls and floor, plus full insulation in all wooden walls, gives an average winter temperature of 34 degrees without heat. Average temperature in the egg room, even with the present hot spell, is 57 degrees.

An elevator which will convey the cased eggs from the egg room to the shipping floor on the ramp level two stories above is a plan of the immediate future.

An approved ventilating system is in operation with fans installed correctly to easily care for the laying pens, each of which have a population of 750 hens.

Running water is piped throughout the building with automatic control devices.

Throughout the plant, the latest devices and methods have been employed. All birds have been vaccinated against Newcastle disease and bronchitis while intermittent treatment is used to control coccidiosis.

The Webel flock now consists of 6500 New Hampshires of which 1500 are old hens. Baby chicks are obtained from the Nichols Farms in Exeter, N. H., with that farm buying Webel's entire egg output for hatching purposes.

A chauffeur and gardener in New York City for several years, Webel tired of the life and with Mrs. Webel started for Warren and the life of a poultryman. Mrs. Webel was acquainted with the area and knew several people who were in the poultry business locally.

The Ed Crawford place was purchased in 1938 and the upland grind to establish a thriving poultry business started. The farm in general and the new plant he has built shows the progress an industrious couple can make in a decade.

He is a member of White Oak Grange and a director of the United Farmer's Co-operative, taking a lively interest in the life of the community and in the poultry market in particular.
